Ballistic Bingo

Be The First To Complete The Puzzle

Played at Churches, Schools, Moose Lodges, and Casinos, Bingo has become a mainstay attraction. Game Show Gurus takes that attraction to new levels and make it faster and more exciting.

Ballistic Bingo Classic

At it's basic upgrade to boring Bingo, we add a video projection screen showing our bingo board, a fast talking emcee, high impact music (targeted to the audience), an attractive display with "curtain warmers", and moving stage lights.

Bingo cards with slide window coverings are passed out—at least one to each participant. The emcee announces one of twenty five patterns that are we are playing for, including: any five, four corners, diagonal, vertical, L's, T's, crosses, complete covering, etc.

Game Play is run at an accelerated pace. When the first person or persons shout out "Bingo", game play is suspended so we can see if they missed any numbers. If all marked numbers were actually called out. If they succeeded and they win a prize (provided by the client).

After a winner is named, the game starts over again. Sometimes we will continue looking for winners since it can take ten minutes for the first one to appear.

Variations on this game include awarding additional bingo cards for answering trivia questions using the "raise the hand random" method or combining this with our game show All Play or Trivia Blitz.

Music Video Bingo

Based on a popular college touring attraction Music Video Bingo takes Bingo a step further into the MTV type generation.

Customized game cards are printed for each event. Sometimes the guest of honor's name is used instead of "BINGO", otherwise we use "VIDEO". Markers are also handed out. (Occasionally, we use "Fruit Loops" because of their colorful nature.) These cards are passed out to the audience, at least one per participant.

After our emcee explains the rules, one of eighty plus music videos are played on our video screen. These videos are played for about fifteen seconds. If you can recognized the videos you will be able to shout "Bingo" faster because the names of the videos are not announced until about ten seconds in. We continue this process. Get five in a row and win a prize. Because it takes about 10 minutes to find a winner, we usually let several people win before recycling the game. The game is cycled several times in a sixty or ninety minute period.

Any type of Music Videos or video images may be used. We have videos from the 1970's, 1980's, 1990's, 2000's, Country, Hip Hop, General Party Hits, Ambient Video, Kids Video, and more and more. Just specify the content and or age group when booking.

Visual Trivia Bingo

Visual Trivia Bingo varies on concepts from Ballistic Bingo Classic, Music Video Bingo, Big Picture Blast, Lights, Sights, and Bites, and other Game Show Gurus games.

We still pass out customized player cards with unique markers.

Like Big Picture Blast or Lights, Sights, and Bites, we project trivia questions from Powerpoint on various topics or pop culture. Find the answer on your Bingo Card. The answer will be shown eventually. Material can be academic for school events or based on movies, TV, music, and more for non school or corporate type events.

Producer's Note: These games take a classic party game and mix it up for a multi media generation. They are appropriate for many types of events, involve a lot of people, and are passive in nature. They can easily be added to an active game show like our own Interactive Trivia Blitz.
